Congress to study Ford's spending cutting proposals

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford's $20.3 billion package of spending authority cutbacks and postponements is getting prompt study in Congress.

But members involved in budget-making indicated they will be more interested in the later recommendations Ford has promised to make on spending curbs.

The list of rescissions and deferrals Ford sent to Capitol Hill on Friday, and an additional $4 billion package due within a few days, cover only decisions previously made by the executive branch and taken into account in compiling the $305 billion spending budget which Ford has undertaken to reduce below $300 billion. Achieving this goal means Ford must find other places to cut and postpone.

This point was emphasized both by Roy L. Ash, director of the Office of Management and Budget, and later by Rep. Neal Smith, D-Iowa, who heads the new House Budget Committee's task force on the current budget.

"We're ready to make rescissions, but we want to look at the kind of dollar that will be cut," Smith said in an interview.

He said that if, for example, it was proposed to cut out funds for loans to small business or manpower training, "we may be cutting future production."

On the other hand, "a dollar spent for defense this year is expended with no contribution to future production," he added.

Postponements of expenditures — which made up the bulk of Ford's initial package — "are not a substantive answer," Smith said.

He said this approach had been tried before and when time came finally to spend the money, costs had risen and more funds were required — "We have to look farther ahead than the 1975 budget."

Chairman George H. Mahon, D-Tex., of the House Appropriations Committee, said he has assigned the committee staff to study Ford's message. He also said he is curious to see what additional recommendations will be forthcoming.

"I think it is a good idea to get all this out in the open," Mahon said.

The biggest outright cut in the list submitted by Ford is $455.6 million in authority for Rural Electrification Administration Loans.

The largest postponements were $9 billion for grants under the Environmental Protection Agency's program for construction of waste treatment plants and two highway aid allocations — $4.3 billion for the present and earlier years and $6.4 billion for the following year.

The only other budget authority listed for outright cancellation was $40 million for airport construction under the Appalachian Regional Development Program.

Some $39.6 million for various programs for the Health, Education and Welfare Department was marked for temporary postponement.

Milk prices may hit new record

WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal officials reporting that consumer prices in August showed the steepest climb in a year say milk prices may rise to record levels.

Government officials, meanwhile, promised not to make budget cuts at the expense of the poor and said they will not force interest rates upward.

Among Friday's mixed economic developments: —The Labor Department reported that the cost of living rose 1.3 per cent in August, the most severe increase since August 1973 after a 60-day price freeze was lifted.

—The Agriculture Department announced that it is considering boosting by as much as 13 per cent the minimum prices farmers receive for Class I milk, the kind retailers sell. That could raise the cost about two cents a quart. Milk used for cheese, butter and other dairy products would not be affected.

—Federal Reserve Board chairman Arthur Burns pledged that interest rates will not be forced upward. But he told financial leaders at a presummit meeting on the economy not to expect any major declines in interest rates.

—Caspar Weinberger, secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, ruled out anti-inflation budget cuts that would further injure the poor, saying, "Our effort will be to deliver more benefits at less cost to those who are most in need. Such sacrifices as are required will be borne by all our citizens."

Meats, clothing, mortgage rates and medical services led the list of things costing more last month. The August price surge was the second largest monthly increase in more than 23 years.

It was accompanied by a Consumer Price Index of 150.2, meaning goods and services costing $10 in 1967, the base year, cost $15.02.

Also in August, real spendable earnings shrank nine-tenths of one per cent to 4.1 per cent below a year ago and the lowest level since December 1970. Average gross weekly earnings were $157.73 in August, compared with $146.63 a year ago.

Grocery and nonfood items all cost 1.5 per cent more in August.

If the Agriculture Department decides to accept the proposal to pay farmers more for milk and the entire increase is passed on to consumers, the price of milk would surpass records set last spring.

Nixon will enter hospital on Monday

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Former President Richard M. Nixon, who reportedly said last week he didn't expect to come out alive if he were hospitalized, will enter a hospital here Monday for treatment of the phlebitis that has painfully swollen his left leg.

Officials at Memorial Hospital Medical Center said Nixon would remain hospitalized for at least three days.

Doctors say phlebitis has created two blood clots in Nixon's leg, either of which could be fatal if it broke free and lodged in his heart or lungs.

As Nixon's staff announced on Friday that Nixon would be hospitalized, Special Watergate Prosecutor Leon Jaworski suggested that U.S. District Court Judge John J. Sirica conduct his own inquiry on whether Nixon is well enough to testify at the Watergate cover-up trial of six former Nixon administration and campaign aides.

Both Jaworski and defendant John D. Ehrlichman have subpoenaed Nixon to appear at the trial, currently scheduled to begin Oct. 1.

Jaworski said Friday that if Nixon is too ill to appear at the trial, "the court could consider taking the customary step of appointing a team of medical experts to examine Mr. Nixon and report their findings to the court." He also suggested the court might take a deposition outside the court room.

Sirica had no immediate comment.

Earlier this week, Nixon's attorney moved to quash a subpoena that ordered Nixon to make a deposition next Tuesday in Santa Ana, Calif., near San Clemente, in a Charlotte, N.C., civil case. The attorneys contended Nixon was too ill to testify.

A hearing on the motion is scheduled Monday.

Sirica to wait for Nixon appeal

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica has decided to wait for a direct appeal from Richard M. Nixon before deciding if the former president is healthy enough to testify at the Watergate cover-up trial.

Although Nixon's health was cited in a defendant's request for delay which Sirica turned down on Friday, the issue is expected to come up again before the trial begins Oct. 1.

Within a few hours after Sirica turned down a request for a 60-day delay from former White House aide John D. Ehrlichman, it was announced that Nixon would enter the Memorial Hospital Medical Center at Long Beach, Calif., on Monday.

The former President is to undergo treatment of a recurring blood vein disease called phlebitis.

Before Sirica's ruling on Friday, Special Watergate Prosecutor Leon Jaworski urged the judge to conduct his own immediate inquiry into the President's health. In addition to phlebitis, Nixon is reported by his lawyers to be suffering from "strain and physical fatigue."

Jaworski said Sirica should send a team of medical experts to examine Nixon if the former president's lawyer, Herbert J. Miller, declares him to be too ill to testify.

The Jaworski suggestion to Sirica was temporarily voided when the judge turned down Ehrlichman's request for delay. But next week, it is expected that Miller will make his own effort to persuade Sirica that Nixon, who has remained secluded most of the time since leaving the presidency, could fly by helicopter from his San Clemente estate to the roof of the Long Beach hospital and go down a stairway to a room reserved for him on the sixth floor of the seven-floor building.

Air Force Maj. Gen. William Tkach, Nixon's doctor at the White House now stationed in Washington, is expected to see Nixon in the hospital. Dr. John C. Lungren, Nixon's long-time physician, will issue daily medical reports on the resigned president.

The doctors say they want to use anticoagulant drugs to dissolve Nixon's two clots. Medication in such treatments must first be given intravenously and later can be taken orally.

It was not immediately known if any family members would stay with Nixon after his arrival at the hospital. Daughter Julie Nixon Eisenhower arrived in San Clemente on Thursday, and sources said she came to convince her father to enter a hospital.

Nixon ruled out a hospital stay as recently as last Friday when he was examined by Tkach. It was Tkach who quoted Nixon as saying, "If I go into the hospital, I'll never come out alive."

Tkach never explained why Nixon felt that way.

WASHINGTON (AP) — White House officials have had their access to federal tax returns sharply curtailed by an executive order issued by President Ford.

And Ford on Friday also sent a memo to heads of departments and agencies demanding that laws intended to keep the civil service system out of politics be "fully and effectively carried out."

Ford's executive order imposed the requirement that only he can direct the disclosure of any tax return to a member of his staff.

"Appointments and promotions in the career service must not be made on the basis of either politics, race, creed or sex," Ford said.

The appeals court also denied a request from defendant Gordon Strachan, a former White House aide, that charges against him be dismissed.

Other defendants in the cover-up trial besides Ehrlichman and Strachan include former White House chief of staff H.R. Haldeman, former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell, former assistant Atty. Gen. Robert C. Mar-dian and former re-election committee lawyer Kenneth W. Parkinson.

In a related development Friday, the U.S. Court of appeals turned down two other cover-up defendants who had asked for an indefinite postponement on grounds that the pardon granted Nixon by President Ford resulted in a climate in which an impartial jury cannot be chosen. In a 5 to 1 decision, the appeals court said it is up to Sirica to decide if he can find 12 jurors — from among a potential pool of 1,000 persons — who are not biased against the defendants.

Draft evader phone callers not to be arrested: Pentagon

By GINNY PITT
Associated Press Writer

Information provided by deserters during telephone inquiries about President Ford's amnesty program will not be used to arrest them or other deserters they may know, a Pentagon spokesman said today.

The Defense Department also announced that the first four men to report for participation in the program have completed processing and have been discharged from the Army.

The Pentagon spokesman said the four were discharged about midnight Friday at Ft. Benjamin Harrison, Ind., after signing a statement reaffirming their allegiance and pledging to complete alternate service.

The Pentagon said the four deserters discharged had arrived at the fort Sept. 19. All four were in the Army before deserting. Their names were not released.

The men received undesirable discharges, which are to be changed to clemency discharges after they have satisfactorily completed their terms of alternate service.

Under the Ford clemency program, however, after deserters receive undesirable discharges there is no binding legal force to make them serve the alternate service.

Meanwhile, some of the men who qualify for the conditional amnesty program said they are hesitant to apply because they have established new lives outside the United States or feel they do not owe the country two years of service.

"I feel I have already served my country by refusing an immoral war," said Ed Fitzgerald, who deserted Army basic training at Ft. Bragg, N.C., in 1969 and has been living in Sweden.

Fitzgerald said he plans to return to the States and to apply for clemency, but "I'm going back with a gun at my back."

David Jensen, 28, a draft evader now living in Winnipeg, Man., said he believes most of the men who fled to Canada to avoid military service will not want to give up their new lives.

"I'm pretty sure the man on the street is not aware that most individual draft resisters are well established in the middle class," said Jensen, formerly of Fargo, N.D. "It would be an impossible situation to chuck it all and go down to the U.S. in 90 days."

The last of 122 men eligible for 30-day paroles under the program were released from Ft. Leavenworth, Kan., on Friday and 14 deserters were being processed at Ft. Benjamin Harrison, Ind.

The primary military processing center for deserters will move from Harrison to Camp Atterbury, Ind., on Monday, and officials said they expect to process up to 150 men a day at the former World War II and Korean War training center.

James Rolph, 25, surrendered at Harrison on Friday and called his mother in Fort Thomas, Ky., afterwards.

"James said they are not being mistreated, but every body is ignoring them," said Mrs. Grace Rolph, 47. "He said the officials there are shielding them from any bad publicity."

Through Friday, the Justice Department said it had received 243 calls and the Pentagon said it had received 569 inquiries about the clemency program.

Nixon White House adviser

WASHINGTON (AP) — Each week or so, a military courier plane travels cross-country with a batch of White House briefing papers on current U.S. policies for Richard M. Nixon.

Deputy White House Press Secretary John W. Hushen, in confirming that Friday, also acknowledged that one of the reasons for keeping the former President advised of developments was to seek his advice.

But Hushen said such a procedure was standard policy for former presidents. Harry S.

Truman, Dwight D. Eisenhower and Lyndon B. Johnson received such materials after they left office.

The courier jet is flown to Nixon's home at San Clemente, Calif. only when briefing information is to be delivered, and members of the former President's family or staff are permitted to go along on a space-available basis, said William Gulley, an executive assistant in the White House military office.

Burke fund-raising dinner oversold

By ROBERT H. NELLIS
A $10-a-plate dinner for Donald F. Burke, Democratic candidate for state representative, was set for 175 persons at Emerald Hill Friday night but, as supporters continued to arrive, the staff of the establishment was called upon to hastily set 112 more places.

A total of 287 diners were served, after which State Rep. Robert Brinkmeier, D-Freeport, was the featured speaker.

Brinkmeier reminisced, it was about 10 years ago he got his "political fee wet" when he unsuccessfully challenged Congressman John B. Anderson for his seat and said his campaign budget then was a mere $1,700.

Jovial Democratic candidates at Burke dinner

Democratic candidates are shown holding a pleasant conference at the $10-a-plate dinner for Donald F. Burke, Democratic candidate for state representative, held Friday in Emerald Hill. Pictured from the left are Michael Heckman, running for superintendent of the Lee County Educational Region; State Rep. Tobias Barry, D-Ladd, seeking a judgeship in the Third Appellate District; Ray Scott, DeKalb, candidate for state senator from the 37th District; Donald Burke, candidate for state representative from the 37th District; State Rep. Robert Brinkmeier, D-Freeport, speaker for the evening, and Sharon Thompson, running for the post of Lee County treasurer. (Telegraph Photo)

The state representative, whose district one time included Lee County but now does not include this county, noted the time has come when we are at a threshold of a new era of government and are being called upon to examine priorities.

"Why do we spend billions to put a man on the moon when we have not exerted enough energy and money to find a cure for cancer?"

"Why are we spending millions for defense when there are millions of our people who are not getting good educations and when many poor kids are not being able to become engineers, doctors or lawyers?" Brinkmeier challenged.

Burke, speaking briefly, said "Over the past generation we have seen the shift of interest, responsibility and power to Washington all in the hope and belief the federal government could solve our problems."

Now, he continued, after a generation and following the spending of billions of dollars and with abuse of power, there is a continued failure of the federal government to handle the burden imposed upon it.

"We see perceptible changes in the opinion of the citizenry that maybe we need to bring government back home where it rightfully belongs," opined the candidate.

"We cannot have government of the people, if we people cannot affect the course of government," Burke asserted.

"As I look at our local and state governments, I see more and more people responding to the actions taken. I wish this interest could reach the federal government."

Burke predicted the years ahead will see a shift of activities of government back to the states, to the counties and to the cities.

"I seek the office of state representative because I think it is where important decisions are going to be made in the future and because I feel an individual with the support of his constituents can affect the course of events," concluded the candidate.

Year after Chile's generals took over

By JAMES FOSTER

WASHINGTON (NEA)— One year after they ousted Marxist President Salvador Allende Gossens, Chile's military rulers remain far short of restoring normalcy at home or gaining acceptance abroad.

Chile's congress is no more. The Communist and Socialist parties are outlawed and other political parties are, by decree, inactive.

Constitutional guarantees of civil rights are suspended and violators of even the most minor laws are hauled before military courts.

On any given day about 4,000 persons are in jail, most on unspecified charges. As some are freed, others are rounded up by military raiding parties acting on information gained through interrogation of other prisoners, the sifting of old political lists, or simply on suspicion of neighbors.

Based on the militarists' new "10-year plan of government" and the recent burning of the electoral rolls, it appears the return of a popularly elected government in Chile is more remote than ever.

Many of the militarists' problems, however, have not been of their own making. The economy a year ago was in chaos. The treasury was drained by the necessity of importing food and other goods because local production had suffered from work stoppages and political skulduggery.

"We knew from the very beginning it would be a very difficult task," said Walter Heitmann, a former air force general who is Chilean ambassador to the United States. "Many people did not realize how deep the damage was."

Copper production now is up 30 per cent from the Allende years and this has promoted a good credit rating among international lending agencies. But higher oil prices have wiped out any real monetary gains.

Chile will have to import about $600 million worth of feed grains this crop year, but agricultural production is on the upswing too. This is due at least in part to an agriculture reform program that gives farm workers title to plots of land taken from major land holders several years ago. Technicians have been ordered to help the small farmers with advice on planting, fertilizing and cultivation.

Although the cost of living rose 174 per cent in the first seven months of this year, the rate of increase is slowing. During the last 12 months of the Allende administration, the cost of living rose 650 per cent.

Encouraging is the restoration of some industry to former owners. According to Chilean officials, there are 49 new foreign industrial investments in the country—mostly Japanese, some U.S. and one European.

These same officials estimate the gross national product by year's end will be up 6.3 per cent compared with a drop of 5.7 per cent during the last year under Allende.

Disease hurt beef production this year, but officials note that for the first time in memory fish, fruits and vegetables are being exported and housewives no longer have to line up at dawn outside the markets for these foods.

Efforts in other fields are more spotty. Telephones—one every three blocks—were installed with great fanfare in slums around the capital of Santiago, and streets were graded. But it is in these slums, which were hotbeds of leftist Allende loyalty, that soldiers have concentrated their midnight raids to flush out suspected resistance leaders and other critics of the new system.

Most observers agree there no longer is systematic torture and execution of political enemies. But, as one woman put it: "The military and the civilians speak a different language and that becomes a problem."

Ambassador Heitmann goes to great lengths to explain the difference between the military twisting an arm or striking a skull with a rifle butt, which he says is accepted as a "police tactic," and what he called "special torture" involving electric prods, extended physical abuse and other forms of physical and mental duress.

"There is no torture in Chile today," Heitmann declares, adding quickly, "and remember, we have fired 15 officers for abusing prisoners."

It was the admitted mishandling of prisoners, which at one time numbered about 15,000, that prompted immediate adverse world reaction to the military takeover.

New life into the old scandal

By DON OAKLEY

The pardon furor has done one thing: It has shown that we were all living in a dreamworld if we thought the resignation of Richard Nixon would write an end to Watergate.

The pardon may have obviated the expected indictment of Mr. Nixon by the Watergate grand jury and spared the nation the trauma of seeing a former president facing imprisonment, but it has not nullified the subpoena he has been served with to appear at the forthcoming trial of his top associates.

While he is immune from prosecution himself, as things stand now, Mr. Nixon must still testify at the trial of H. R. Haldeman, John Ehrlichman, John Mitchell and three other former presidential aides scheduled to begin Oct. 1, and under penalty of perjury answer questions about his role in the affair. The pardon has thus only returned Watergate to the headlines a few weeks sooner than would have been the case in any event.

Even if, as now appears more and more likely, Mr. Nixon's lawyers move to quash the subpoena on the grounds of their client's ill health, the former president will still be very much present in spirit in this, the biggest of all the Watergate trials.

President Ford has also added a new dimension to the scandal. He has made it a live political issue. It remains to be seen whether the American public will deliver a stunning rebuke to the Republican party in November's elections as the only means it has of protesting what many feel has been the ultimate cover-up, the ultimate obstruction of justice.

And in 1976, even if all the Watergate trials are history by then, Watergate could very possibly be revived again when Gerald Ford seeks the nomination of his party—if not by fellow Republicans raising anew the question of his judgment in issuing the pardon when he did and the way he did, certainly by Democrats looking for an issue.

All our fond hopes notwithstanding, Watergate, far from being finished, seems destined to carry over into the nation's third century of independence.

China without Chou

LONDON (LENS)— The irreplaceable Chou En-lai, the world's longest-serving prime minister and China's longest-serving politburo member, looks on his way to being replaced at last.

His wife, who is herself a veteran Communist official, told a Nigerian delegation in Peking last week that Chou had effectively resigned after suffering a second heart attack. He is not now expected to resume his normal punishing schedule ever again.

The timing of Chou's illness is unfortunate for sentimental reasons—the celebration of the Communists' 25 years in power in China on Oct. 1 would not be the same without him—and also for very practical ones. The Chinese plainly would have liked to get some unfinished bureaucratic business out of the way before the anniversary; a new draft state constitution has yet to be approved and some high officials, including the head of state and the defense minister, have yet to be appointed.

The prescribed way of dealing with these matters is at a full-dress meeting of the National People's Congress, China's nearest equivalent to a legislature; but no such meeting has been held for nearly 10 years. The conflicts which have prevented a summoning of the congress since it was first proclaimed to be imminent four years ago seem at least partly to have been resolved.

But Chou's illness removes the one man capable of engineering the inevitable last-minute compromises—and introduces the problem of selecting his successor. All of which makes a congress before Oct. 1 pretty unlikely.

It is a reflection of Chou En-lai's prodigious workload that his job is now being performed by two men. Teng Hsiao-ping and Li Hsien-nien, both deputy prime ministers and both Communist party members for nearly 50 years, have been taking turns on the meeting-and-greeting circuit.

Teng, who has received rather more foreign statesmen and made rather more speeches, is generally regarded as the front-runner for Chou's job. But Li is still one step up in the party hierarchy and a strong contender.

Neither may be a match for Chou En-lai, but either would assure China of as smooth a succession as it is likely to get now that the indispensable has to be dispensed with.

Saxbe's hair raising warning

WASHINGTON (LENS)— The Federal Bureau of Investigation has been toiling for 44 years to perfect a national system of uniform crime reports. What it gets for its pains is an almost unbroken chain of increases in the national crime statistics; the more thorough the collection of figures, the more crime there appears to be.

But even now more crime goes unreported than enters into the statistics. Thus it would be a mistake to jump to conclusions about this year's figures in the Uniform Crime Reports, which are terrible.

However, the Nixon administration did make political capital out of its dedication to a national attack on crime, it did take credit in President Nixon's first three years for a decline of the rate of rise of the crime index, and it was able briefly to rejoice over an actual fall in the reported crime rate in 1972.

Whatever substance they may or may not have had, those claims are deflated by the 1973 figures just published, which show an increase of 6 per cent over 1972 in the reported crime rate for 1973.

William Saxbe, the Attorney General, anticipated the 1973 figures when he talked to an audience of police chiefs in Chicago last month, and he made no attempt to take refuge in statistical incompleteness or ambiguity.

He found it all "disheartening," he expressed fears that the country might be "inundated" by a wave of crime, and he uttered the dire warning that America might resort to the creation of a national police force "in one final effort to restore domestic order."

A national police force in the United States is a hair-raising idea, implying as it does a demolition of the federal structure of government together with the accumulated local and particularist habit of American civil life.

Still, Saxbe does not seem to have had any substantial movement for a national police force in mind. He was just uttering the most horrible warning he could think of.

A crime "index" is naturally a weighted average of a variety of dissimilar, indeed incomparable, crimes. The figures of crime by category tell more. The estimated figure of murders and manslaughters rose by 5 per cent between 1972 and 1973, from 18,550 to 19,510.

The Southern states put up the most imposing performance, with 44 per cent of all the homicides. Other striking facts are that about three-quarters of the victims were male and more than half of them were black. Hand guns were by far the preferred type of weapon for homicide.

When it comes to robbery (that is, open theft involving a weapon or the threat of use of force) the Northeastern states come into their own; this is outstandingly a big-city crime. Still, the Northeast experienced a modest falling-off of 4 per cent, though not enough to deprive it of its handsome lead, while the other regions showed an increase. The estimated total was 382,680, and increase of 2 per cent.

Burglary flourishes with a total for 1973 of 2,540,900 reported cases, an increase of 7 per cent.

Perhaps the most baffling American criminal tendency is the persistent, dynamic rise of the rape figure, which showed an increase of 10 per cent to 51,000. Even nowadays, however, rape is the most underreported crime of all. The fact that it showed an increase of 62 per cent in the five years from 1968 to 1973 may indicate either a spread of the crime, or a gradual escape of women from the embarrassment and fear of reporting it.

Airlines headed for merger

NEW YORK (LENS)— A merger of Pan American and Trans World Airlines now seems much closer, even though both parties continue to eye each other, like two porcupines, with love in their hearts but caution in their minds.

Twice before—in 1962 and 1972—the two international American flag carriers presented merger agreements to the Civil Aeronautics Board but withdrew their applications before the board had time to act.

Now, it seems, the application is for real. Pan Am is failing and TWA will be the surviving carrier in any new plan that is submitted for a merger. The failure of Pan Am could come by the end of this year is some form of cash infusion is not forthcoming soon.

Pan Am would like the cash from Congress, via the CAB. However, there is almost no chance that the rescue money would be anything like the $10 million a month requested.

Being merged into TWA is the last thing that Pan Am's management wants, but time is running out for "the world's most experienced airline." Wall Street has already given up on Pan Am. Its shares are hovering around the $2 level and, in theory anyway, the entire enterprise could be purchased for some $80 million. This is less than the asset value of Pan Am's wholly-owned Hotel Intercontinental subsidiary.

TWA is the logical purchaser of Pan Am. No other airline, except possibly United, has both the financial resources and the depth of management to enable it to absorb Pan Am's operating losses without being dragged under the rising tide of red ink.

Pan Am's operating loss was nearly $50 million in the first six months of this year. Cash assets at the start of 1974 were $110.9 million; on July 1 cash assets were down to $55.9 million. According to Pan Am's quarterly financial reports to CAB, only the Pacific division of the airline remains profitable.

The large profits that are usually posted during the summer holiday months are absent this year. In July, the critical month, there were losses all round.

To make matters worse, all operating expenses are up and continuing to rise, led by fuel costs that are now nearly double those of a year ago. Even more serious is the drop in traffic, particularly on the north Atlantic services. For the first time since the end of the second world war, fewer Americans decided to holiday abroad this year than last.

TWA has also been affected by the sharp drop in holiday travel, but not as much as Pan Am. TWA has the benefit of an extensive domestic American route system that feeds its overseas services.

The heads of both Pan Am and TWA recently met Secretary of Transportation Claude Brinegar to sound out the Ford administration's policy on both subsidy and merger. They were told that merger was far preferable to subsidy. Such influential senators as the leader of the Democratic majority in the upper house, Mike Mansfield, and the vice-chairman of Congress's Joint Economic Committee, William Proxmire, have spoken out strongly against a subsidy for Pan Am and thus reinforced the pressure for merger within the administration.

Combining Pan Am and TWA would yield not only large economies of staff—once the golden handshakes were out of the way—but also massive fuel economies.

Nations seek to keep sea alive

By BARBARA WARD

Over 350 years ago the Dutch jurist, Hugo Grotius, formulating the legal doctrine of the freedom of the seas, wrote of, "The ocean, which although surrounding this earth with the ebb and flow of its tides, can be neither seized nor enclosed; nay, which rather possesses the earth than is by it possessed."

This year's United Nations Conference on the Law of the Sea, which assembled at Caracas, Venezuela is likely to redefine Grotius's law to an unrecognizable degree. For the conference coincides with a quantum jump in man's ability and determination to "seize and enclose" the watery commons that covers two-thirds of his planet.

This change, which amounts to the extension to ocean space of the modern technological order, has been building up for some time. But at a certain point in the extension of technology, the processes become cumulative, the pace accelerates formidably and men suddenly wake to the realization that their whole way of life and work has been transformed.

That was how the process evolved on land. Now it looks as though we are witnessing the same process of critical acceleration in the oceans. We can define several traditional uses of ocean space—for transport, as a source of wealth (which in the past has mainly meant fishing and whaling), as an area for fixed installations (piers, lighthouses, telegraph cables), and as an ultimate dump for all the wastes of human society. In all these categories, change is now formidably speeding up.

The transfer of goods by sea is expanding by eight per cent a year. In the 1960s, the weight of world cargo doubled—from 1,110 million tons to 2,280 million tons.

When we turn to the exploitation of the oceans' resources, it is more than a question of a vast expansion of a traditional activity. Fishing and whaling have, it is true, grown to an unprecedented degree. But the development of new mineral resources is more remarkable still.

Whether the search is for protein, fuel or minerals, the scale of exploitation is already without precedent.

Between 1950 and 1970, the world

fish catch grew from 20 million metric tons to 70 million tons. Such a vast expansion was made possible by radical changes in fishing technology. Factory ships, weighing up to 44,000 tons, sometimes equipped with the oceanic equivalent of giant vacuum cleaners, suck up all forms of marine life, dump back into the sea the unwanted material—a whale can be flensed and melted down in just half an hour—and then refrigerate on the spot fish destined for markets on land.

Such mass methods are indiscriminate. Porpoises, for instance, caught in nets trawling for tuna, are becoming a threatened species.

But the biggest break with the past comes with the growth of mineral exploitation. At present, the extraction of oil and natural gas from the continental shelves provides 15 per cent of the oil produced each year.

By 1980, it is estimated that offshore oil will account for between 30 and 40 per cent of the world's supply. By the end of the century, the percentage could be nearly half of an annual global total.

The largest discovery so far lies on the deep ocean bed in the form of unexplained but highly exploitable reserves of so-called nodules, varying in size from ping pong balls to footballs, made largely of manganese, cobalt, nickel and copper, and able, according to some estimates, to provide 400 million tons of ore annually ad infinitum since they obligingly renew themselves.

A vast increase in the number of fixed installations in the seas follows inevitably from this expansion of mineral exploitation. Ships in the Gulf of Mexico already have to follow carefully defined shipping lanes to avoid collisions with the platforms and rigs of offshore oil.

Pipelines will increasingly link the wells with onshore facilities.

There are only nine ports in the world which can handle the 200,000-ton tanker. Floating terminals are increasingly seen as the answer, and there are already 50 offshore ports with a wide variety of links to the shore.

When the shores are used up, so the argument goes, whole industries must move to sea.

Poci-Unger marriage ceremony

MR. AND MRS. JOE S. UNGER JR.

ROCK FALLS—St. Andrew's Catholic Church was the setting for the recent marriage of Miss Cindy Poci, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Geno Poci, Rock Falls, to Joe S. Unger Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe S. Unger Sr., Dixon.

The nuptial mass was performed by the Rev. William Meyers, pastor of the church, who was assisted by the Rev. Neil Tobin of Loras College, Dubuque, Iowa, and the soloist, Miss Barbara McMillan, Sterling, was accompanied by Mrs. John Hoffmiller, organist.

Decorations
Basket arrangements of pink gladioli and pink and white carnations decorated the church altar, and white satin bows trimmed the church pews.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore her mother's wedding gown of ivory satin fashioned with a net yoke embroidered with crystals and seed pearls and tapered sleeves ending in wrist-points. A cathedral train complemented the gown, and a contoured headpiece of ivory lace held her waist-length veil of illusion tulle. Her bridal bouquet combined orchids, stephanotis, baby's breath and strands of ivy.

The maid of honor, Miss Kathleen Dieterle, San Antonio, Tex., and the attendants, Mrs. David Bushaw, Rockford, and Mrs. Ann Fane, wore gowns of pastel blue, pink, green and white printed voile styled with ruffled skirts and cap sleeves. Their white picture hats were trimmed with pink, blue and green ribbons, and matching ribbons accented their bouquets of pink carnations.

An identical costume was worn by the junior bridesmaid, Miss Mary Kay Gugliuzza, Rockford, and the flower girl, Miss Kimberly Westcott, wore a full-length frock of white eyelet lace over green chiffon.

Kenneth Biddle, Annawan, attended the bridegroom as best man; serving as groomsmen were Dennis Crouse and Gary Pierce, Dixon, and wedding guests were ushered by Randy Williams, Dixon, and the bride's brother, Gary Poci. Participating as ringbearer was Danny Joe Feltes.

The ceremony was followed by a reception at Jul's Danish Farm when the bride's table was centered by the bouquets carried by her attendants and lighted candles in twin candelabra. A three-tiered wedding cake decorated with pink carnations and baby's breath was served by Mrs. Deno Tullini and Mrs. Norman Krabben Hoef, and punch was poured by Mrs. John Reynolds Jr., Morrison; Miss Maggie Beck, North Aurora, and Miss Jane Tullini.

Rehearsal Dinner
Members of the bridal party were also entertained at a wedding rehearsal dinner hosted by the bridegroom's parents in the Brown Shingle Restaurant, Dixon.

Since their return from a wedding trip to southern Illinois and Kentucky, the newlyweds have been residing at 809 Ave. D, Sterling. The bride, a graduate of Newman Central Catholic High School, Sterling, received a degree at MacMurray College, Jacksonville, in 1973, and she is teaching third grade at Montmorency Elementary School, Rock Falls. Her husband attended Sauk Valley College for two years following his graduation from Dixon High School, and he is presently employed by the Russell, Burdsall and Ward Company, Rock Falls.

Fashion forecast

The heat is still on but there will soon be a hint of crispness in the air. Fall is coming. And with it comes changing activities and bright new fashions.

Soft, fluid styling, very feminine and figure flattering, are the keywords for the season. Though pants still reign, going cuffless and with a modified flare, skirts are catching the eyes and ayes. Skirts are fuller, swingy, often giving allowing easy movement. Watch for yesteryear's waist-easy elasticized dirndl updated for fashion appeal.

Dresses feature the fuller skirt, blouse topped with dolman, raglan or wide kimono-like sleeves. Tent shaping reappears with deep necklines, full sleeves and gentle contours through the midriff.

It's the year of touchable fabrics including soft brushed jerseys, texturized knits, crinkly crepes, fluffy mohair blends, deep chenilles and supple challis. Many of the fabrics are launderable, even machine washable and dryable. Check care labels in garments and follow instructions.

Together with washability, wardrobe planning means economy — so important these days. Last year's skirts or pants can be given a new look with the addition of tops. Coordinates and switchable separates are bigger than ever with the emphasis on sweaters of all kinds.

Cardigans are important in tweeds and muted fall tones. Big boy bulkies are easy going, but not sloppy, often with notched or mock turtle collars. Look for flecked yarns, space-dyes, stitch variation, such as boucle teamed with cable. Intricate patterns are worked in subtle color combinations. Stripes and diagonals are new.

Lengths are from short to long, with wrap sweaters getting attention. Sweater-shirt styling allows great versatility for every mood and any time of day. Some sweaters are worked like jackets to give a suit-like appearance to separates.

Some of new fashions feature bright embroidery or jewels. Sweaters in particular are offering collar accents of fake fur, looped yarn or coque feathers. When shopping, look to see that decorative trim on an otherwise washable garment is easy to remove and replace.

American Legion Auxiliary

The American Legion Auxiliary met Wednesday night in Legion Hall when Mrs. Walter Smith, senior vice president, presided in the absence of Mrs. David Caudillo, president.

Mrs. Roy DeWitt reported on a recent board meeting in Chadwick, and also announced that the auxiliary news publication has been renamed "The Prairie Stater."

A 13th District school of instruction is scheduled for 9 a.m. Oct. 1 in Milledgeville when Mrs. Fred Zemke, district president, will preside, and reservations for a luncheon planned for the meeting should be made by Sept. 28 with Mrs. DeWitt.

A donation was approved for the "Chapel of the Four Chaplains," and Mrs. Smith announced that Mrs. Denton Dennis, chairman of the Good-fellows, is asking for donations of toys, baby clothing and canned vegetables and fruit to be taken to the Eurith Leydig Memorial Center for distribution. Toys to be repaired should be delivered to the Dixon Fire Station by Oct. 1.

Mrs. Charles Bishop reported that an electric knife for the Legion Hall kitchen had been purchased from the memorial fund for Mrs. Walter Kyger, past president of the unit and past district president, and final plans were made for the installation of Legion Post officers and auxiliary officers planned for 8 p.m. today in Legion Hall.

Auxiliary officers to be installed include Mrs. Bishop, president; Mrs. Smith, senior vice president; Mrs. Albert King, junior vice president; Mrs. John McLennon, secretary; Mrs. DeWitt, treasurer; Mrs. J. Howard Quick, chaplain, and Mrs. Edward Bally, sergeant-at-arms.

The installing officer will be Mrs. Theodore Mason Sr., past district president, and she will be assisted by Mrs. Clarence Bohlken, chaplain, and Mrs. P. F. Cochran, sergeant-at-arms.

New officers of the Legion Post will be George Myers, commander; Warren Crossland, senior vice commander; John Eckhart and Norris Tucker, junior vice commanders; Walter Kyger, service officer; James Stuckey, sergeant-at-arms, H. F. Walder, finance officer and adjutant; Eugene Phalen, assistant adjutant, and Arthur Tofte, chaplain.

Mr. Kyger will conduct the Post installation, and all interested persons are welcome to attend the public ceremony, which will be followed by a social hour and refreshments.

THIS STRIKING floor-length dinner suit is fashioned of gray flannel trimmed with seed pearls and black shining paillettes. Worn with a tailored shirt of silver lame, the costume is from a new collection by Gagliano, who glorifies the feminine form with the magic he possesses in his use of color, shape and line.

'Little old lady' tops 'em all

By Oswald & James Jacoby

As you may have gathered from the last few articles, the Little Old Lady of today is not the soft touch she was 20 or 30 years ago. Furthermore, some are tougher than others.

In the second qualifying session of the 1968 Life Masters mixed teams, practically every South opened three notrump. He would win the first or second heart and cash his ace-king-queen of spades to see if dummy's nine might set up. When it didn't he would cash the three high clubs while making sure to wind up in dummy, so as to be able to try the diamond finesse if the club suit failed to break. It would break and declarer would lead to his ace of diamonds, cash the fourth club and be home with the game.

One very young expert explained to his partners how he managed to get himself set.

I was playing against an old white-haired man and a Little Old Lady. When I played my ace of clubs the LOL dropped the nine and White played the four spot. Obviously the suit was not going to break, so I led to dummy's king of clubs. The LOL played the jack and White completed an echo so I took the sure thing finesse against the 10 spot.

"Well," sighed his partner, "White was Oswald Jacoby. The LOL was Helen Sonel, who has already won this event several times."

Polly's Pointers

Polly's Problem

DEAR POLLY — My husband always complains about me not being able to remove clear oil stains and, most important, the oil odor from his work uniforms. I do hope someone can give me some helpful ideas. — DARLYN.

DEAR POLLY — I am a teacher married to a man who must move as his company demands. This means I have to keep applying for a teacher's certificate as we move from state to state. My Pet Peeve is that there is not a national standardized teaching certificate to eliminate the costly state-by-state process now in effect. — MRS. H. W.

DEAR POLLY — My suggestion for Mrs. H. F. R. who wants to remove mortar from some old bricks is to use a small iron bar, about 10 or 12 inches long, and chop away the mortar. I did that when cleaning bricks for fireplace walls and other uses while a P.O.W. in Germany. — DON.

DEAR POLLY — We have an automatic garage door opener so my husband hung a SOFT PLASTIC ring on a string from the rafters. When the ring touches my windshield I know it is safe to let the door down without having to check to see if I am in far enough for the door to close. — GERRITT.

DEAR POLLY — I have had to report more than one motorist who has gone into a restaurant and left a dog in the car with the windows down only one inch and the temperature was 94 to 100 degrees. Once, before I could get the police, two big dogs smothered to death. The other day I was pleased to see a car parked with BOTH front windows all the way down and a dog sitting on the back seat calmly looking at me. I went to see why he had not jumped out and found there was a fine but strong wire grating from the back of the front seat to the roof of the car and across the entire width of the front seat. If more drivers would copy this idea for leaving dogs in cars it would be a blessing. — ELWOOD.

LEE — Miss Susan Prestegaard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis A. Prestegaard, Steward, and William Claybaugh, DeKalb, exchanged marriage vows at 4 p.m. Sept. 7 in Calvary Lutheran Church, Lee.

The Rev. Donald Myhres, pastor of the church, performed the double-ring wedding, and the nuptial organist, Mrs. Allen Berg, Rochelle, accompanied the vocalists, Mrs. Ralph Jungels, Rochelle, and Miss Carol Prestegaard, Steward.

Decorations for the ceremony included altar arrangements of white gladioli and yellow chrysanthemums and twin candelabra holding yellow candles. The altar rail was also trimmed with fern sprays and yellow flowers.

Bride's Attire

For her wedding, the bride chose a floor-length gown of white sata peau trimmed with Venetian lace entwined with lavender ribbon. The gown's long-sleeved empire bodice, styled with a circular yoke and a wedding-ring collar, topped an A-line skirt accented by lace appliques and a chapel train, and her elbow-length veil of three English illusion tiers was attached to a lace headpiece. As she was escorted to the altar by her father, she carried a cascading bouquet of yellow and white roses and baby's breath.

Miss Carol Prestegaard, Steward, who was her sister's maid of honor, was attired in a full-length gown of lavender dotted Swiss designed with bishop sleeves and trimmed with Chantilly lace. Identically-styled gowns of lavender and yellow dotted Swiss were worn by the attendants, Mrs. Robert Scroggum, Sycamore; Miss Judy Knutson, DeKalb, and Mrs. Gary Keast, Monterey, Calif. Their picture hats, trimmed with satin bows and streamers, matched their costumes, and they carried bouquets of yellow roses, lavender asters and yellow Elegance carnations.

The ceremonial flower girl, Miss Ann Hill, Rochelle, wore a frock of lavender dotted Swiss with a headpiece of fresh flowers, and flower petals filled the basket she carried.

Merritt Weise, Holstein, Iowa, was Mr. Claybaugh's best man, and groomsmen were Robert Scroggum, Sycamore; Loyd Claybaugh, Evansville, Ind., and Steven Foster, DeKalb. Ushering was done by James Cutsinger, Shabbona, and John Cain, DeKalb, and the rings were carried on a white pillow by David Prestegaard.

Reception

The service was followed by a reception and buffet in the church parlors when the serving table was centered by a four-tiered wedding cake featuring a fountain and a bride and groom holding figures of a bride and groom and their attendants. Mr. and Mrs. Carl Hill, Rochelle, acted as reception hosts and guests were registered by Miss Julie Claybaugh, DeKalb.

The new Mrs. Claybaugh received a degree at Kishwaukee College, Malta, and a bachelor's degree in business at Northern Illinois University DeKalb. Her husband also earned a degree at Kishwaukee College, and received a bachelor's degree in animal science at Iowa State University, Ames, Iowa. He is employed by the Cornhusker Cattle Company, Sycamore, and they have been living at 285 Baseline Road, Kingston, since their return from a Wisconsin wedding trip.

Dear Ann

by Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: This letter is for "Mixed-Up Kid." I know how she feels because I, too, feel great hostility toward my parents. They had a disastrous marriage and are still in it.

Even though I have analyzed their problems, it doesn't make me feel most kindly toward them. My parents are what they are and I wouldn't have anything to do with them if we weren't related, so why bother about them now? Although society insists that we love our relatives and overlook their weaknesses, I refuse to play games.

I no longer pretend. I have stopped performing "duties." I wouldn't turn my back on my parents in time of need, but I refuse to have guilt crammed down my throat.

I'm a very neurotic person because of their bad marriage. Why should I reward them with my time and attention? — No Baloney

Dear Baloney: You're even more mixed up than that kid who wrote. At least she recognizes her inadequacies and is trying to do better. You haven't taken Step One.

So you're neurotic because your parents had a poor marriage? Well, how about a little compassion? Isn't it enough that they've had a terrible life together? Must you add to their misery by ignoring them? You say you won't turn your back on them in time of need. Well, they need you NOW. So wake up and smell the coffee. It's later than you think.

Dear Ann Landers: Here's an open letter to a hitchhiker. I hope you will print it.

Hello, there: I'll bet you're wondering why I'm scrutinizing you so closely as I continue down the highway, ignoring your outstretched thumb.

No, I'm not rejecting you because you have long hair and scruffy jeans. I didn't stop because frankly, I'm afraid of you. Yet, I feel guilty, because you might be O.K. and I wish I could have given you a lift and some refuge from what looks like a storm coming up.

Then, too, I worry for you — that some driver might take advantage of your isolation and your youth.

I recently read where three young hitchhikers were brutally murdered by a pair of lunatics who gave them a ride. Don't you see the papers?

Now, back to why I scrutinized you so carefully. You reminded me of someone. I had to be sure you weren't my son. You can't imagine how heavy my heart is, having to pass you up, but I had to do it for my own protection. And I am — Sorry

Dear Sorry: No need to have regrets. That kid might have been perfectly O.K. but then again, how could you be sure? It's a chance too big to take and I don't blame you.

Dear Ann Landers: Like many of your readers, I was interested to learn that at your dinner table when guests of other faiths gather, you offer a prayer which is ecumenical. There is no more ecumenical prayer to introduce a meal than the 3,000-year-old traditional Jewish prayer which reads, "Blessed art Thou, O Lord our God, King of the Universe, who bringeth forth bread from the earth."

In a world threatened with hunger, this prayer should have special significance and universal acceptance. — Rabbi William Novick.

Dear Rabbi Novick: Many thanks for that bit of wisdom.

Zesty salad

No matter the season, molded gelatin salads add color to the table and refresh the palate. Cranberry juice and fresh or frozen cranberries add a bit of sweetness to a salad that makes it a good companion to meats, poultry, game and fish. This is a salad that will keep and some will enjoy it as a separate dish, especially those who are dieting.

CRANBERRY-VEGETABLE RELISH MOLD
2 cups boiling water
4 packages (3 ounces each) pineapple-orange gelatin
4 cups cranberry juice cocktail
1/2 cup lemon juice
1 teaspoon salt
3 cups fresh cranberries, ground
1 cup diced drained water chestnuts
3 cups cooked or canned sliced carrots
2 cups minced celery
1 medium-sized onion, finely chopped

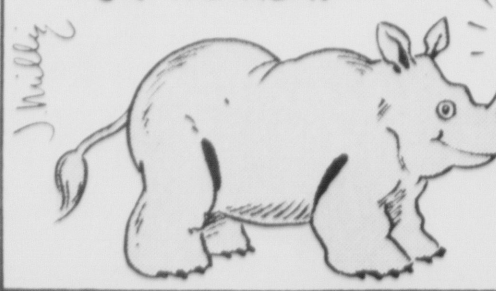

Add boiling water to gelatin. Stir until dissolved. Add cranberry juice, lemon juice and salt. Chill until slightly thickened. Fold in cranberries and remaining ingredients. Pour mixture into 3-quart mold. Chill until firm. Unmold and garnish with crisp salad greens and serve with mayonnaise, if desired. Makes one 3-quart mold.

'Test run' for city and rural fire cooperation

A mutual aid agreement between the Dixon Fire Department and Dixon Rural Fire Department hasn't been given full approval yet, either by the City Council or the trustees of the rural district.

Among the areas which the city department has agreed to cover for Dixon Rural are the Nachusa Lutheran Home, Grand Detour School and Elidena School.

A minor fire at the Nachusa Lutheran Home Friday afternoon proved to be a convincing argument for approval of the new agreement.

The fire started between two pieces of plywood on a window and is believed to have been caused when ignitable material was stuffed through a hole in the plywood and ignited.

Under normal circumstances, prior to the mutual aid plan, Dixon Rural would have answered the call from its headquarters north of the river, and call in the city trucks if it was thought they were needed.

The two departments are already implementing the plan and at the Friday fire, Dixon City fire fighters were on the scene first.

No one can answer for sure—the blaze was handled quickly before it could do a great amount of damage—but maybe the several minutes saved by the city department arriving first could have kept it from being worse.

The fire was in a boarded-up window on the third floor of the main building at the home. There was heavy smoke and firemen feared for a time it might have spread to the attic, but they donned smokepacks and an inspection revealed this was not the case.

The city's bit ladder aided in firemen reaching the top floor quickly.

Death train survivor home after two years

CHICAGO (AP) — After 22 months, 22 days and 12 operations on her legs which were fractured in 40 places, Dorothy Anderson has gone home.

She was the last of the more than 300 persons injured in an Illinois Central commuter train accident to leave the hospital. Forty-five persons died in the crash.

It happened on October 30, 1972 shortly after 7:30 a.m. — a peak rush hour period. A new aluminum IC train was sitting in the 27th Street Station when an older steel body train rammed it from the rear, slicing through much of the last car of the lighter train.

Miss Anderson, an employee of Illinois Bell Telephone Co., was in that car in the fourth seat from the rear. "When I think about the 45 people who died, I consider myself extremely fortunate because most of them were sitting around me, in front of me, or in back of me," she said Friday before going home to her little two-story bungalow where she lives with her only living relative, her brother Carl.

"That was my lucky day, I came out alive."

Miss Anderson, who will celebrate her 50th birthday Monday, said she was unconscious for several hours after the initial impact of the crash. "I regained consciousness and I wished I hadn't."

She awakened to find herself still on the train and the scene she saw was one of carnage.

"There were two friends sitting on the seat in front of me. One was killed. The other was badly hurt."

Miss Anderson knows she may have to endure more operations. Her right leg was amputated below the knee last September after an almost year-long battle to save it. It has been replaced with an artificial limb.

The left leg remains in a cast.

Despite this prospect however, she had not lost her courage. "Nobody's happier to be alive than I am," she told reporters.

Her advice to them was "The past is gone you can't live it over. Pick yourself up by the bootstraps and start living again. It might be a little different, but it's living."

United Fund kick-off dinner is Wednesday

Chairmen have been appointed for the eight soliciting divisions and seven non-soliciting committees of the 1974-75 Dixon United Fund drive.

The campaign for the $92,000 goal is to be "kicked-off" officially at a dinner meeting for all volunteer workers, their friends and guests, at 7:15 p.m., Wednesday, in the Trail Room, Nachusa House.

A three-week blitz-type community-wide fund-raising campaign emphasizing the "fair-share" formula of giving at place-of-employment is to follow the kickoff dinner, Paul L. Berrettini, general chairman of the drive, reported.

"Although the dollar-goal is just $5,000 more than last year's goal, we are going over-the-top again this year by urging greater use of the generally accepted unit plan and fair-share giving," Berrettini said.

"The unit plan," he said, "is to solicit all business firms, regardless of size, applying the fair-share formula to accomplish a three-in-one solicitation."

"In other words," the general chairman said, "the corporate gift, plus the executive and supervisory personnel gifts, plus all employee gifts — equal the unit plan."

The drive's division and committee chairmen are all requested to complete enlistment of their respective teams of voluntary workers before the "kick-off" Wednesday evening. The table of organization calls for a minimum of 250 workers to solicit the 1,250 potential accounts.

Five noon-time report meetings are scheduled at the Commonwealth Edison Building, 919 W. First St., on each Tuesday and Thursday, starting on Oct. 1 and concluding on Oct. 15.

The United Fund campaign soliciting divisions, number of accounts, target dollar-goals, and names of chairmen, are as follows:

Industry-Utilities— 28 accounts, $30,000, Joseph L. Ribble;

Commercial— 167 accounts, $12,800, Stanley T. Smith;

Education— 13 accounts, $6,100, Sheldon B. Bross;

Government— 35 accounts, $11,800, Mrs. Mary M. Sanford;

Professional— 105 accounts,

$8,000, Dr. Vernon A. Brickley; Public Service— 177 accounts, $15,800, J. Kenneth Hyatt and Barry J. Vail;

General Business— 137 accounts, $2,000, Richard J. Hornat; and Residential-Area— 586 accounts, $5,500, Paul F. Green. Richard L. Langenfeld is to serve as vice chairman of the drive.

The non-soliciting committees and leaders are: Arrangements— Mrs. M. Charles Willey; Audit— Harry D. Wade; Awards— Dorothy G. Butler; Church Cooperation— Rev. Ted E. Rodd and Rev. Tom W. Shepherd; Prospect Planning— Richard E. Lovett; Public Information— Thomas M. Williams; and, Speakers' Bureau— James W. Greenlee.

Antifreeze: tight supply, high priced

NEW YORK (AP) — Three major antifreeze producers say there should be enough of the product to meet the demand this winter, but they warn the market will be tight and that some retailers already are charging exorbitant prices.

"Our view is that the situation is tight and we expect that there will be a shortage in isolated retail markets from time to time," said a spokesman for Union Carbide Corp., the nation's largest antifreeze producer.

The company has increased the wholesale price of Prestone antifreeze from $1.77 a gallon last fall to $2.40 to $2.50 a gallon because of higher production and raw material costs. But there are reports of individual retailers charging from $6 to $12 a gallon.

"It's a rip-off of the worst kind," said Robert J. Cassidy, antifreeze marketing manager for Union Carbide.

"There's no rhyme or reason for some of the prices we're seeing," agreed Frank Chesek, marketing director for automotive chemicals for Northern Petrochemical Co., the third-largest antifreeze manufacturer.

"You find one retailer selling it at $3.17 a gallon and three blocks away some one else is selling it for $6," he said. "I think it's a panic situation and they're taking advantage of it."

Chesek said he would classify the antifreeze supply "as a tight market with spot shortages." The company sells its Peak Grand antifreeze and coolant for $2.28 a gallon plus freight.

A spokesman for the Dow Chemical Co., which markets the second-largest selling brand, Dowgard, said "We estimate there will be enough for individual car owners. There may not be enough for some industrial users."

Dowgard sells for $2.52 a gallon in truckload quantities, the company said, up from $1.55 a year ago.

"We're concerned about panic buying" as a result of shortage rumors, the spokesman said. "We're making a special effort to make as much auto antifreeze as we can."

One reason for possible spot shortages is that the companies have little inventory with winter nearing and are shipping what they make directly to market. A given area could run out between shipments.

The main reason for the low inventory is a lack of manufacturing capacity for ethylene oxide from which ethylene glycol, antifreeze's main ingredient, is produced. An over-capacity in the late 1960s lowered prices and the economic incentive to expand. New plants announced by Dow and Union Carbide will take three years to build.

Du Pont, which was a major supplier of antifreeze, has decided to use all its ethylene glycol for production of polyester fiber and will phase out of the market entirely after this year.

Driver cited

Patrick T. Fane, 22, 1023 Peoria Ave., was charged with failure to reduce speed to avoid an accident after the car he was driving collided with a truck in the 500 block of West Third Street.

According to Dixon police, the vehicles collided after the truck driven by Virgil A. Tomman, 54, Rockford, was backing out of a gas station and stopped after seeing the Fane car.

OMVI charge

Donald Troxell, 30, 119 Van Buren, was arrested by Dixon Police for driving while intoxicated Friday in Dixon.

Troxell has posted bond and will appear in court Oct. 3.

DIXON'S JAN BLACKBURN has one leg wrapped up (photo above) by Rochelle's Brad Miller midway through the second quarter of the Duke-Hub football game Friday night. Blackburn spun loose from Miller's grasp to pick up six yards. Miller was injured on the play and removed from the field. Joel Richards (23) helped out on the tackle. Richards slithers through a hole created by Tom Walker (32) in the photo below, en route to a 31-yard gain near the end of the third quarter. Richards sidestepped three would-be tacklers on the sprint before Mark Appleman finally made the stop on the Dixon six-yard line. Walker then carried two times for the remaining distance to give the Hubs a 6-0 lead in a game won by Rochelle 14-0. (Telegraph Photos)

Rochelle halts Dixon offense

Hubs blank Dukes 14-0

By MIKE CUNIFF
Telegraph Sports Editor
ROCHELLE—The Rochelle Hubs were anything but perfect hosts to the visiting Dixon Dukes, here, Friday night during their non-conference football game. The Rochelle fans were not rowdy, the game started on time and little name-calling occurred on the field, but Dixon's biggest complaint about the Hub welcome was pretty crucial.

Rochelle behaved much like a bully in the old-time movies. The Hubs would not let Dixon have the ball to play with and Rochelle turned the bullish tendencies into a 14-0 victory, with both touchdowns coming in the fourth quarter.

One First Down
Unofficial statistics credit the Hubs with 66 plays from scrimmage during the game while Dixon had only 33. The Dukes never crossed the mid-field stripe, had only one first down in the second half and gained 15 yards rushing plus 14 passing, for a game total of 29.

Joel Richards, Rochelle half-back, overshadowed the 29 Dixon sum with a 31-yard burst up the middle, late in the third quarter, as the Hubs drove 63 yards for the game's initial touchdown. Richards finished the night with 126 yards in 18 carries, with 73 of the markers coming in the first half.

20 Carries
And, while Richards was the main rusher for the home team in the opening half, fullback Tom Walker went to work in the final 24 minutes. Walker carried 20 times for a net of 103 yards, including five attempts for 28 markers on the first Rochelle payoff drive.

The senior running back, taking over for the injured Art Erickson and Sam Ciacio, got the Hub offense rolling with three consecutive runs of nine, four and nine yards from the Rochelle 37.

The onslaught began with 2:49 to go in the third quarter, after Ned Vail boomed a Dixon punt 45 yards. Walker moved the ball to the Duke 41 with his trio of efforts before halfback Bob Kroll rambled for a gain of four.

Richards Zooms
Richards then zoomed over the middle, left three would-be tacklers in his wake and slanted down the left sidelines for 31 yards before Dixon defensive safety Mark Appleman made the stop on the Duke six-yard line. Walker got five up the middle before time expired.

The opening play of the final stanza saw Walker crack the scoring column with a burst over right tackle. The conversion kick by Chris Rice sailed wide to the right. Dixon's Randy Wakeley returned Rice's kick-off 22 yards, to the Duke 27, but the offense sputtered as Richards sacked Vail for a loss of nine.

Vail then slipped while fading back to pass (strongly rushed by Walker), to lose seven more. The Hub punt was downed on the Dixon 46. It took the Hubs 10 plays to move into the end zone, with all the action being on the ground.

Four Backs
Four different backs combined their talents for the rushing success. Walker picked up 17 yards in four attempts, Richards had 23 in three, Dave Wyatt three in one carry, while Kessen was stopped once for no gain early in the drive, before he swept right end and crossed the goal line, untouched, with 4:57 showing on the clock.

Steve Plumley, who took over for starter Ron Kessen at quarterback to start the second half, then whipped the two-point conversion pass to Andy Colbert in the left part of the end zone, to make the final count 14-0.

Joel Colbert, Rochelle head varsity coach, commented on the quarterback switch after the game by stating, "Plumley had an operation (tumor in his back) this summer but it's obvious he's faster and a better ball handler. We just decided to give him his chance in the second half and it seemed to help our offense because he was a little quicker on the pitch-outs."

Stopped Ourselves
"We just stopped ourselves in the first half," Colbert continued. "It was quite obvious, though, in the second half if they couldn't move the ball on us. Walker ran hard in the second half but we had good all-around play from all our backs. Richards and Dave Wyatt did well and Bob Kroll, for his first time on offense, did a nice job."

"We played a lousy game last week. Sycamore just took care of us, but tonight the team just decided to go out and get it (the win)." Colbert then explained the Rochelle offensive strategy as "We went outside more the first half. We would run off tackle to keep the drive going and then throw in the counter play."

"Once we got running and got downfield, we moved inside. Pretty soon, when you keep going inside, the ends move in and the option play goes. And our running backs probably ran as good tonight as they had all year long."

Meager Stats
Dixon, on the other hand, had a meager handful of statistics. The Dukes accumulated only four first downs, with two of them the first time they handled the ball. Mike James was the leading ground gainer with 17 yards in nine carries.

Mike LeBlanc contributed 15 in only two attempts. Vail completed 10 passes for 14 yards. Sam Applebaum, Dixon head varsity coach, stated after the loss,

"Rochelle was no surprise. We knew they were quick and we expected it."

"They were no surprise at all and their quickness hurt us badly," Applebaum attributed the main Dixon problem to be the offense as he stated, "We never got rolling offensively. We only had a few first downs the entire game and we couldn't start anything offensively."

Slipping Hurt
"Slipping hurt us too, as Vail slipped a couple of times (net loss of 15 yards) and (Jan) Blackburn once. We never passed the 50-yard line and this definitely hurt us."

But the coach seemed impressed with the Dukes' defensive showing. "Yes, defensively, we played a decent game," Applebaum stated when asked. "Their quickness hurt us but the defense looked pretty sharp. There were a couple of standouts, although we have to wait to see the films to really evaluate the game. But Roger Kelly, Bill Bryan and Bob Pinegar played well."

Bryan made nine tackles and one assist while Kelly had six and three, respectively. Pinegar tackled on seven stops and four assists from his tackle slot.

Offensive Spurt
The only concentrated Dixon offensive spurt was the first time the Dukes got the ball. They moved from their own 14 to the 48 with two first downs. Blackburn got four over left tackle to start the drive. James added three through right tackle and Dan Kopacz earned another set of downs with a four-yard scamper up the middle.

LeBlanc slid off a tackle attempt by Gonzalo Valdivieso, to gain eight and came right back with another seven-yard pickup to move the ball to the 40. Steve Moore sandwiched a net gain of eight in two carries around a pass incompleteness, but the Dukes were forced to punt and the offense never recovered.

Rochelle moved the ball from its own 28 to the Dixon 31 after taking the opening kickoff, went from its own six to the Duke 41 late in the frame, crossed mid-field with 10 minutes to go in the half and did not convert excellent field position, twice, before time expired.

Wyatt Intercepts
Wyatt intercepted Vail's pass and returned the theft eight yards to the Dixon 30, with 4:40 to go. Three rushes netted five yards before James knocked down a pass intended for Colbert in the end zone.

Dixon failed to generate any offense and turned the ball back on a punt. Rochelle began on its own 39 and inched down into Duke territory as far as the 34-yard line, before Mike Allen and Bernie Castillo got to Kessen on the final play of the half.

The blanketing administered to Dixon was the fourth consecutive game during which the Rochelle seniors did not surrender a point to the Dukes. The Hubs now have a 2-1 overall mark and travel to Rock Falls to begin conference play next week while the Dukes, still winless after three games, return to A. C. Bowers Field to meet NCIC foe Streator.

Christmas Present
Dixon sophomore coach Herb Jennings and his team got an early Christmas present as the Dukelets tied the Rochelle underclassmen 26-26, with a touchdown and conversion after time expired.

Behind 26-18 with two seconds to go, Dixon deep in its own territory, a desperation pass was called by the Dukelets. A Rochelle defender intercepted the ball as the buzzer went off. The defender, thinking the game was over, flipped the ball towards an official.

Dixon's Steve Brandau alertly scooped up the ball and galloped 25 yards into the end zone for a touchdown with no time showing. Randy Hazelwood then punched across the tying two-point conversion run.

Hazelwood Scores
Hazelwood gave the Dukelets a 6-0 lead with 3:18 remaining in the first quarter, with an eight-yard dash around left end, but Rochelle came back with 30 seconds left in the frame to take an 8-6 advantage on a Mike Rand touchdown and conversion.

The only score of the second stanza was a Kent Johnson four-yard run which gave Dixon a 12-8 lead. Rochelle gained the advantage in the third frame, with two touchdowns by Mike Dyer of six and 14 yards around a Hazelwood 11-yard burst.

A two-yard scoring run by Rochelle's Dave Kroll gave the Hublets a 26-18 lead which was wiped out by Brandau's fumble return. Hazelwood picked up 82 yards rushing to pace the Dukelets, with Gary Magnifici adding 71. Johnson and Brandau tackled on 25 each as the Dukelets are now 1-0-2 for the season.

Cardinals down Cubs on homers

By ALEX SACHARE
AP Sports Writer
The St. Louis Cardinals and Pittsburgh Pirates, vying for the lead of the National League East, took opposite routes to the same destination Friday night.

The Cards used the long ball, a three-run blast by catcher Ted Simmons, to beat the Chicago Cubs 5-2.

The Pirates didn't get any home runs, but made the best of two weak singles, a walk, a wild pitch, a passed ball, two infield grounders and some alert baserunning to beat the New York Mets 4-3.

The victories kept the Cards in first place in the NL East, one-half game ahead of Pittsburgh.

Elsewhere in the National League, Los Angeles beat San Diego 2-1, San Francisco edged Cincinnati 4-3, Atlanta blanked Houston 1-0 and Philadelphia whipped Montreal 10-2.

Cards 5, Cubs 2
Mike Tyson opened the Cards' big inning with a walk, pitcher Bob Forsch sacrificed and was safe at first base on a fielders' choice and Lou Brock singled to load the bases. After Ted Sizemore fouled out, Reggie Smith singled home Tyson to put St. Louis in front 2-1 but Forsch was thrown out trying to score. Simmons then blasted his 18th home run of the year.

Pirates 4, Mets 3
Mets starter Ray Sadecki had a 3-1 lead and a five-hitter until the Pirates rallied in the ninth. Rookie Art Howe led off with a walk, and Tug McGraw relieved Sadecki. Howe took second on a wild pitch, but McGraw struck out pinch-hitter Dave Parker. Pinch-hitter Paul Popovich tapped a weak single, Howe going to third, and Renie Stennett followed with a bloop single to score Howe, move Popovich to third, and chase McGraw.

Harry Parker took over on the mound, but Sanguillen hit a bouncer to shortstop Teddy Martinez, who threw to third trying to get Stennett. His throw was too late, and Popovich crossed the plate with the tying run.

After Parker walked Al Oliver intentionally and loaded the bases, Willie Stargell hit a ground ball and Stennett crossed the plate.

Dodgers 2, Padres 1
Steve Yeager's fifth-inning home run provided the winning margin for the Dodgers.

Giants 4, Reds 3
Tito Fuentes singled, stole second and rode home on Gary Thomasson's single in the eighth inning, breaking a 3-3 tie and lifting the Giants past the Reds.

San Francisco had rallied for two runs in the seventh to tie.

Braves 1, Astros 0
Knuckleballer Phil Niekro, 18-12, fired a four-hitter and drove in the only run of the game with a sacrifice fly in the fifth inning for the Braves.

Phillies 10, Expos 2
Steve Carlton fired a four-hitter and Del Unser and Willie Montanez ripped two-run homers for the Phillies.

American League
The New York Yankees are certainly having their ups and downs these days. Right now, they're up in the American League East Division pennant race.

The Yankees, who dropped out of first place Thursday night, moved back in Friday with a doubleheader sweep over the Cleveland Indians.

"I don't think ups and downs bother this team," said New York Manager Bill Virdon after the resilient Yankees beat the Indians 5-4 and 3-0. "This team seems to handle pressure pretty well."

The Yankees moved into a tie with Baltimore in the pressurized race as the Orioles defeated sagging Boston 2-1 and plunked the third-place Red Sox four games off the pace.

Bobby Murcer's run-scoring triple in the ninth inning gave the Yankees their first game victory. They won the second game as Larry Gura pitched a six-hitter.

New York got all the runs Gura needed in the fourth inning. Elliott Maddox opened with a double and Murcer was hit by a pitch. Lou Piniella singled to left, scoring Maddox, and after Thurman Munson forced Piniella, Chris Chambliss doubled. New York added another run in the sixth.

Orioles 2, Red Sox 1
Don Baylor and Boog Powell belted home runs and Ross Grimsley and Grant Jackson combined to pitch a six-hitter, leading Baltimore over Boston.

In the second inning, Baylor drilled his 10th homer of the season—a drive into the screen in left-center field. Powell's 10th of the year broke a 1-1 tie in the seventh.

White Sox 2, A's 0
Bart Johnson and Terry Forster combined on a three-hitter and Jorge Orta's run-scoring single keyed a two-run sixth inning, pacing Chicago over Oakland.

The loss cut Oakland's American League West Division lead to four games over the Texas Rangers, who were rained out.

Twins 3, Angels 2
Minnesota took advantage of California starter Nolan Ryan's wildness and an error by first baseman John Doherty to score two runs in the seventh inning and defeat the Angels.

Tigers 8, Brewers 5
Rookie Dan Meyer belted two home runs and John Knox' two-run single capped a seventh-inning rally that gave Detroit its victory over Milwaukee.

Barber
is happy in first

MASON, Ohio (AP) — Old pro Miller Barber has an enviable mark in pro golf. He's won at least one tournament in each of the last seven years. And he's ready to make a run at No. 8.

"You know," Barber said Friday after a second consecutive 68 had given him the 36-hole lead in the $150,000 Kings Island Open Golf tournament, "only one other man has done that."

"In those seven years (going back to 1967) only Jack Nicklaus and I have won at least one tournament every year. nobody else has done it."

As for his chances in this one, Miller smiled:

"I'm just happy to be where I am right now."

Miller, 48, balding and paunchy, held a one stroke lead over first-round leader Dick Rhyhan, who fell victim to the deep rough that lines the 6,990-yard layout at the Jack Nicklaus Golf Center. He blew from an opening 65 to a scramble 72 and a 137, five-under-par.

Nicklaus—the man who designed this course and is the defending champion and overwhelming favorite in a relatively thin field—once got 11 strokes back of the leader and had to rally for another 71 that left him six shots behind at 142.

Victor Regalado, the longshot Mexican who scored a surprise victory in the Pleasant Valley Classic earlier this season, was alone in third with a 70-139.

Mike Hill, with a 68, and Curtis Sifford, with a 70, headed a group of eight at 140. The others at that figure — Australian Graham Marsh, Charley Owens, Jim Ferrell, Tom Kite, Bruce Ashworth and Gury Groh — all had second-round 71s in weather that ranged from heavy overcast to light showers.

"It hasn't been a bad season for me," said Barber, who has collected some $61,000 in winnings, "but it's been a frustrating one. I've been in position to win maybe five times and it hasn't happened."

Now he has another chance.

He missed only two greens and had but one bogey. Two of his birdies came on putts of 20 and 40 feet. Another came after an approach shot left him a five-footer and he came out of a greenside bunker to within three and made the putt for birdie four on the other one.

MASON, Ohio (AP) — Leading second-round scores Friday in the $150,000 Ohio Kings Island Open Golf Tournament: Miller Barber 68-68—136; Dick Rhyhan 65-72—137; Vic Regalado 69-70—139; Charles Owens 69-71—140; Jim Ferrell 69-71—140; Bruce Ashworth 69-71—140; Curtis Sifford 70-70—140; Tom Kite 69-71—140; Mike Hill 72-68—140; Graham Marsh 69-71—140.

Hanover beats Ashton in Upstate Illini game

HANOVER — The Ashton Aces suffered a few setbacks in the person of Jeff Sullivan as they were downed 20-8 by the Hanover Red Devils in the Upper Illini Conference contest staged here Friday night.

Sullivan, halfback for the Red Devils, was responsible for all three of Hanover's TDs, the last on a 44 yard run.

The Aces started off with a bang when they took the opening kick and marched 49 yards to score first. At 7:15, Ed Heckman, quarterback, threw ten yards to his end, Jeff Mieners, who was standing in the end zone. Mike Pfeiffer ran up the middle to bring in the conversion points.

Then the Red Devils decided to take over. They started off with five minutes remaining when quarterback Pat Sheridan lateraled to Sullivan, who threw a 21 yard pass to end Joe Speaker for the TD. Todd Flack ran the ball up the middle for the extra points.

The second and third periods consisted solely of back and forth play, but Hanover clearly dominated.

Early in the fourth quarter fumbled drastically on their own seven yard line and Hanover recovered. Two plays later, with 7:06 remaining, Sullivan ran six yards through a gap in the middle to score. The conversion attempt failed. Later,

Amboy loses 22-11

ERIE — The Amboy Clippers had the best of it in almost every statistical department, but the Erie Cardinals came up with three big plays here Friday night to dump the Clippers, 22-11.

The first half belonged to Amboy. Buck Fenwick got the Clippers on the scoreboard with a seven-yard scamper and John Klausen passed to Mike Blackburn for the two-point conversion.

In the second quarter Greg Esgar booted a 22-yard field goal after another Clipper drive gave out deep inside Erie Territory.

The half ended that way with Amboy holding an 11-0 edge.

Erie got the first of three big efforts as the second half was only seconds old. Guy Lacy took the opening kickoff and rambled 84 yards for the touchdown. He ran in a two-point conversion to cut the Amboy lead to 11-8.

The Cardinals went ahead to stay later in the third period when Erie blocked an Amboy kick and Tim Heyvaert fell on the ball in the end zone for a touchdown. Quarterback Dave

Polo is success to start conference

PECATONICA — Polo opened its 1974 Mid-Northern Conference football season on a successful note here Friday night, stopping the host Pecatonica Indians, 19-6.

The Marcos jumped off to an early lead, saw the Indians draw within a point at halftime, and then polished off the triumph in the final two quarters.

Polo got its first score on a one-yard plunge by Ray Schmidt. Don Vock kicked the extra point and the Marcos were on their way.

Bill Kendall went into the end zone on an 11-yard effort in the second quarter as Pecatonica tried to even things up, but the conversion try failed and the hosts had to be content with the short end of a 7-6 halftime score.

Tom Clayton iced the game for the Marcos in the third quarter when he rambled 33 yards with a blocked kick. Vock's extra-point kick was blocked.

The visitors added an insurance touchdown in the fourth period when Vock took a 15-yard touchdown pass from Brad Hartje. Vock's kick failed.

Polo's frosh-soph team swamped its Pecatonica counterpart, 46-6, in the preliminary clash.

The Marcos will return to their home gridiron next Friday night in another Mid-Northern Conference fray against Byron. The contest will mark Polo's homecoming.

Forreston wins

FORRESTON — The Forreston Cardinals gave the Winnebago Indians a good lashing as they unleashed a combination of ground and air attack to take the 13-7 victory in the Mid-Northern Conference game played here Friday night.

The Cardinals put 13 points on the board with a touchdown in the first and third quarters before Winnebago had a chance to score in the final period.

Forreston drew first blood when Lyle Brunning received a pass from Mike Ross and traveled 30 yards to the end zone. The conversion attempt failed, leaving the Cardinals with six.

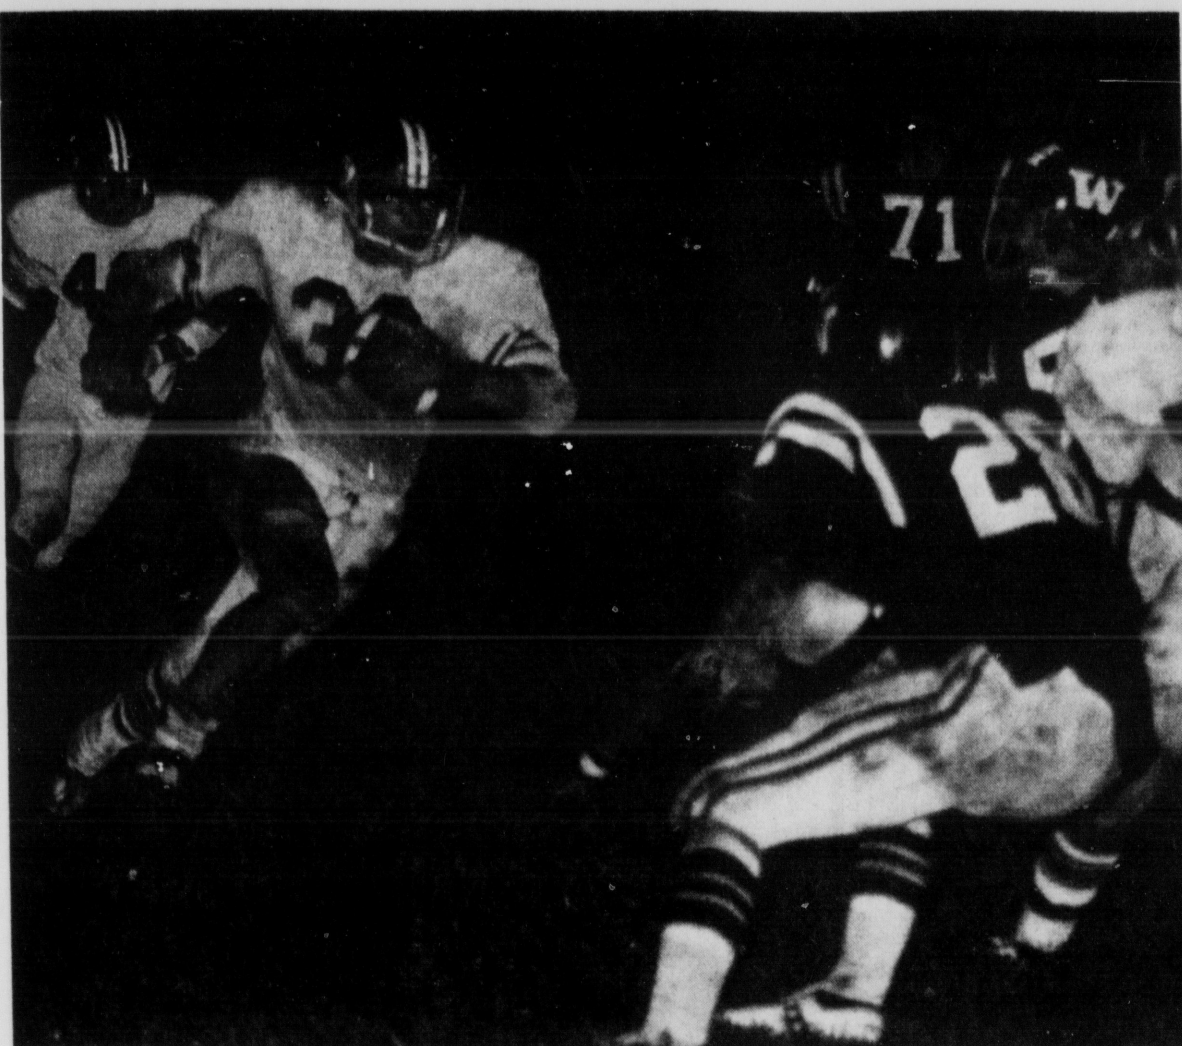

Forreston came back in the third to score again, this time with the ground attack. Jim Gapinski took the ball and skittered five yards for the TD. Gapinski then kicked the extra point giving the Cardinals their final score of 13.

The Indians had a final comeback as their halfback caught a pass and ran 50 yards for the TD, well into the fourth period. Gapinski was the lead rusher for the Cardinals, gaining 77 yards on 19 carries. Steve Coleman was next with 55 yards on 11 carries. Ross connected with 5 of his eight passes for 70

Tiskilwa put 19 points on the scoreboard in the first quarter and tacked on 15 more in the second frame. All five touchdowns came on the ground. Mike Cain opened the scoring with a 35-yard dash with Steve Friel kicking the extra point.

Friel then hit paydirt with a one-yard plunge and Stan Harmon made it 19-0 before the quarter expired with a 43-yard sprint. The Indians got a 14-yard run worth six points by Cain and a 17-yard scoring run by Harmon in the second stanza. A Friel kick conversion and a Cain two-point run made it 34-0 at half.

Buda blasts Walnut 30-0

By CONNI DETTMAN
Telegraph Sports Writer
WALNUT — When two teams get together on a Friday night and lock horns on a striped 600-yard field, something has got to happen. And happen it did in the rural community as the Blue Raiders butted heads with the Buda Western Rams and came up on the losing end of the 30-0 contest, here, Friday night.

Fans saw two games in one as the Buda offensive team ran up the 30-0 score by the end of the first half and then came back to battle head-to-head defensively with the home team in the final half. Several mistakes in the first half by the Raiders and a good adjustment in the final half also made for the two-game exhibition.

The game started out with Walnut receiving the ball but four plays later the Raiders gave it up without getting the first down. Western took over on their own 41-yard line.

Walnut's defense went to work and looked strong as they caught the Buda rusher behind the line of scrimmage, throwing him for a seven-yard loss. With second and 17 yards to go for the first down, Western quarterback Kevin Anglin flipped the ball out to David Hartz, who ran it 78 yards for a touchdown with only 1:43 gone in the game. The conversion on a run in by Anglin made the score 8-0.

Once again Walnut received the ball and started a drive to gain back the points lost to Buda. Joe Gibson and Toby Greenwood took turns carrying the ball for the Raiders and managed to gain some yardage before Anglin for Western intercepted the pass, and ran it 34 yards for their second touchdown. The conversion was good, to boost the Rams' lead to 16-0 over the Raiders.

With over half of the first quarter to go, Walnut once again had possession of the ball. The teams traded drives and, as the quarter ended, Walnut recovered a Western fumble on the 24-yard line.

The Raiders couldn't put it together in the opening minutes of the second quarter and had to punt the ball on fourth and three. A hard rush by the Rams' front line blocked the punt attempt and took over for their team on the 15-yard line.

Buda's Anglin picked up some more ground yardage for his team, before back-to-back fumbles by the two teams set up another touchdown play for the Rams from the nine-yard line. The touchdown came on a pass from Anglin to John Winek. The conversion attempt failed and the score stood 22-0, Buda.

The Raiders received the kick-off on their own 33-yard line and started another drive. Gibson managed to pick up some yardage against Western but, on fourth and one, Walnut was forced to give up the ball with less than two minutes in the half.

Short runs, picking up small yardage, set up the Rams' final score of the night. Mike Bloomberg made the touchdown for Western with 11 seconds left in the half. The conversion was good, to make the score 30-0.

Third quarter and the new game began. Walnut's defense perked up and went to work against the quickness of the Rams, except this time Western was as quick as in the first half.

The Raiders kicked-off to the Rams and then started an adjusted plan of attack. Several times Walnut caught Western behind the line of scrimmage.

Four plays after the drive began, Western was forced to give up the ball but a fumble put the ball back in the Rams' possession. Western still could not get a drive going and Walnut soon had first and 10 yards, deep in their own territory.

The Raiders couldn't get their offense rolling in the second half but, where their offense failed, their defense sparkled. Raider Roger Johnson played a strong defensive game as he personally caused two Western fumbles and consistently kept pressure on their offense team.

It was this consistent pressure by Johnson and the rest of the Raider defensive line which forced Western to make mistakes. Penalties against Buda also aided Walnut. Two 15-yard penalties for blocking killed two drives, giving the ball to Walnut.

The fourth quarter was almost a carbon copy of the third. Again, the Raiders' defense pressed, keeping the Rams away from the end zone.

Walnut never could get its offense rolling and for the rest of the quarter the two teams traded unsuccessful drives. The Raiders tried one last time to get a touchdown but the clock ran out and Buda had handed Walnut its third loss of the season.

Statistically, if the Raiders could have deleted the first half, they would have been ahead in the stat column. In the first half, Western racked up 232 yards, compared to 18 yards in the final half.

The Raiders gained 90 yards, with 72 total yards rushing. Walnut gained 18 yards in the air on seven pass attempts, with four completions. One Raider pass was intercepted.

Walnut had two first downs in the game and made both of them by rushing. Western made two out of three first downs by rushing and got the third on a penalty situation.

Buda gave up the ball five times on fumbles, while Walnut gave up the ball on six fumbles.

Raider punters averaged a distance of 24 yards on set punts. Western punted five times for a 31-yard average.

The Raiders will now take a 3 record to Bradford Fridge night in another conference game.

HOW YOU CAN CHALLENGE TYRANNY AND DEFEND YOUR PROPERTY AGAINST FEDERAL AND STATE LAND GRAB PLANS.

TO PROTECT YOUR FAMILY AND YOUR COMMUNITY. DEFEAT UNCONSTITUTIONAL PRO-GRAMS WHICH SEEK TO CHANGE OUR FORM OF GOVERNMENT.

The Right of Private Property, guaranteed to the people by the Fifth Amendment, and respected as fundamental to individual freedom since 1791, is being cancelled by an outlaw Washington administration.

Federal land control laws and their State counterparts, are land grab decrees. Unless informed and irate citizens force revocation they will reduce Americans to the status of economic serfs on the land which once was theirs.

The Worry Clinic

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE
CASE B-648: Dr. Charles Babbush invited me to address the Cleveland Dental Society earlier this year.
"Dr. Crane," he apologized, "we didn't dare include our wives for your banquet address."
"Because the dining hall wouldn't accommodate such a large audience."
"But they wanted to come!"
As a rule, the doctors and members of other trade or professional conventions ask their wives to join them at the banquet session.
Indeed, nowadays hundreds of the ladies are also present at my afternoon sessions, for they are doubly eager to glean all the latest psychological rules for maintaining a happy home.
"Dr. Crane," some readers have expressed surprise, "since many women grow incensed at your calling them waddling walruses and baby hippos (if they are rather fat) why do they crowd into the lecture halls to hear you?"

Perceptive Women
Most of the wives realize that I am merely urging them to go on an immediate diet, when I taunt them with being waddling walruses or baby hippos.
For you must work up enough ire at your own fat tummy to launch a diet TODAY, not next week or next month!
But occasionally a plump wife will project her anger upon me, instead of on her bulging tummy.
"Dr. Crane," an Akron wife once wrote, "judging from your picture in our Beacon Journal, you're sure no prize winner yourself."
Twice more on that first page of her letter she again reminded me that I was "no prize winner."
Atop of Page 2, she then added this final deflating thrust: "Dr. Crane, I bet you're not married!"
"But if you are, your poor wife leads a life of H... because to sit and look at that face of yours across the dinner table every night sure is no honor!"

Every columnist soon learns that you can't win 'em all!
So we expect a certain number of readers to grow irate, especially if we step on their psychological "corns."
Others, alas, fail to read carefully, so they jump to wrong conclusions and then develop a caustic attack that is erected on false suppositions.
Far too many Americans are like Don Quixote, who projected his own biased mental images upon the windmills; then rode valiantly to attack them with his lance.
Dr. Charles A. Leistner, at the University of Oregon, is chairman of the Committee on Discussion and Debate, which now promotes high school debating on various pertinent issues.
Such an organization merits wholehearted support, for debaters learn at the outset to get their facts straight and also define the issue at stake, to make sure they lock horns.
Alas, that is one of the greatest dangers in American politics nowadays, for logical debate is rare.
Instead, we have slanting of news, with the use of "ad hominem" and other fallacies of logic, which merely work upon the prejudices of the audience to produce mob reaction.
All high schools should take delight in the worthy efforts of Dr. Leistner and his colleagues all over the U.S.A. who are sponsoring and directing teenagers in the techniques of logical discussion.

Send for my booklet "Common Fallacies in Logic and Political Tricks," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 25 cents and get it into your local high schools, too!
(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of the Dixon Evening Telegraph, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 25 cents to cover typing and printing costs, when you send for one of his booklets.)

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (AP) — Julie Nixon Eisenhower has arrived here to visit her ailing father, former President Richard M. Nixon.

Mrs. Eisenhower flew from Washington to El Toro Marine Corps Air base on Thursday night aboard a government courier jet. Her husband, David Eisenhower, remained in Washington.

It was the first time Mrs. Eisenhower has seen the former president since he left Washington on Aug. 9. It was not known how long she would remain.

Mrs. Eisenhower said earlier

Unless Federal officials begin work on a treaty with the tribe, tribal members say they will close the boundaries of land they claim in Northern Idaho and charge a 10-cent toll on all cars passing through their territory. WASHINGTON (AP) — Former presidential press secretary Jerald F. TerHorst says he is happy with his decision to leave the White House.

TerHorst, who quit in protest over President Ford's pardon for former President Richard M. Nixon, was honored on Thursday night at a National Press Club reception. He said his only regret is that he didn't stay at the White House long enough to restructure the press office there.

TerHorst returned to the Detroit News as a syndicated columnist.

About 575 persons attended the press club function. TerHorst was presented with a new pipe and stand engraved with the dates he served as Ford's chief press spokesman.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sens. Jacob K. Javits of New York and Claiborne Pell of Rhode Island are heading for Cuba.

Pell, a Democrat, and Javits, a Republican, are the first members of Congress to visit the island since before diplomatic relations were broken between the United States and Cuba in 1961.

An aide to Javits said the State Department has validated passports for the two despite official restrictions. The aide said the trip would be made soon, but declined to give a date. Both senators are members of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) Charles W. Colson, the former presidential aide, has been quietly transferred to a federal prison at Maxwell Air Force Base here.

Colson, who was a special counsel to former President Richard M. Nixon, was sentenced to from one to three years after pleading guilty to obstruction of justice in the Daniel Ellsberg case. It was learned on Thursday that he arrived at the minimum security prison Tuesday.

Colson had been at Fort Holabird, Md., waiting to testify at upcoming Watergate trials. No reason was given for his transfer.

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford has proclaimed Sept. 15-Oct. 15 as Johnny Horizon '76 Clean Up America Month. In the proclamation on Thursday, he urged all Americans to join in "neighborhood and community cleanups, beautification programs, resource recovery and education programs, energy and wildlife conservation efforts, and other worthwhile activities."

Letter takes year to cross town; he joins Air Force

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) Robert Chapdelaine has a sad story to tell about how he ended up in the U.S. Air Force because the Postal Service took 356 days to deliver a letter across town.

And when it finally arrived, the letter came with two cents postage due because the rates had gone up during the year Chapdelaine was waiting.

Having failed to get the job which he believes the lost letter would have brought him, Chapdelaine signed up for a four-year hitch in the Air Force. Now he wants out.

The story began when Chapdelaine, then 18, applied for a $3.75-an-hour job on the service desk of the California Highway Patrol.

He passed the written test, and was mailed a notice on June 21, 1973, to report for an oral examination. By June 12, 1974, when the notice finally reached Chapdelaine with postage due, he had long since been scrubbed from the list of applicants.
